Here are a few reasons why H. S Stout has succeeded in building up the largest tailoring business in Paris:

FIRST—He recognized the fact that five years ago that the only and return on Thursdays. Will send day of big profits and small sales was past.

SECOND—He cuts the price of tailor-made garments at least 40 PER CENT.

THIRD—He kept up the quality of his materials, his styles and his workmanship.

FOURTH—He always does as he advertised. .

AS A RESULT.

As a result of this system he has built up a large trade that appreciates the fact that they save twenty dollars on a single Suit or Overcoat. "Many customers at a small profit rather than a few customers at a big profit," says H. S. Stout.

If you want credit, your high-price tailor gladly extends it, for he makes you pay dearly for it in the end.

Why not turn over a new leaf-wear the best, save money, by giving H. S. Stout a trial?

Troops Ready to Sail From San Francisco at a Moment's Notice.

Among Them Are Five Companies of the 14th United States Infantry, and One Battery of 50 Heavy Artillery, Under Capt. Terry.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 25 .- The first Manila expedition is now ready at a moments notice though it is not expected to sail until Wednesday. It comprises 2,500 men under the immediate command of Maj. Gen. Anderson, whose headquarters are on the Australia, which is lying in the stream Tuesday night in close proximity to the City of Peking and City of Sidney. ITS RACE IS RUN.

Spain's Flying Squadron Cooped Up in Santiago Harbor-Its Capture or Destruction Almost Certain.

NEW YORK, May 25.-A Washington dispatch to the Herald is as follows: Spain's flying squadron will fly no longer. Its race is run. Cooped up in the harbor of Santiago de Cuba, its destruction or capture is considered by officials here to be merely a matter of time. Before the harbor are the armorelads of the American navy, ready to give battle to Adm. Cervera's men-of-war the moment they poke their noses out of the channel leading to the sea.

Official advices announcing these to be the positions of the opposing fleets were received at the navy department Tuesday night from the commanderin-chief of the American force operating in front of the harbor. It was these advices which enabled the authorities to deny emphatically the reports that an action had occurred in the Windward passage.

Whether Commodore Schley shall attempt to force his way into the harbor to meet the Spanish fleet therein, is a a point which he alone is believed to be competent to pass upon, and which he alone must decide.

So important is considered the retention of the Spanish fleet in the harbor of Santiago de Cuba or its destruction that the authorities do not propose to let it escape, and if necessary the ironclads in front of Santiago de Cuba will be reinforced.

So clarified has become the atmosphere as a result of the bottling up of the Spanish fleet in Santiago De Cuba that the authorities are now eagerly and earnestly pressing forward the military expedition which will invade Cuba.

This expedition will unquestionably start this week and will be supported by a formidable force of ironclads, which will be detailed to bombard Havana under the command of Rr. Adm. Sampson while the army makes the land attack.

Spain Will Concentrate Her Energies in Defense of the Philippines

With a View of Retaining Them in the Event Peace is Forced Upon Them by International Law-Functions of the War Board.

Indications are believed to point to a relaxation if not a and the West Indian waters. The natural conclusion, if this premise is well founded would be that the Spaniards were going to concentrate their entire energies to the defense of the Philippines with the view to retody. The invaders drew off a short taining them in the event peace is principle of international law which limits a victorious nation in indemnithe territory she actually occupies West Indies would be significant, first, immediately, and second, in the hint possibilities of peace.

The war board, lately known as the strategy board, had a short session Tuesday morning. There appears to be a great misconception on the part of the public and newspapers as to tion and manner of work. According to the popular mind this board sits in the navy department and with autocratic orders directs the movements of fleets and the execution of plans of campaigns down to the very smallest details. This conception has led to a good deal of comment, some humorous and some serious, at the expense of the board, and the idea had even spread to Europe, where so conservative a paper as the London Times has delivered itself of this criticism:

"It would be wise in the future to leave the direction of operations to naval commanders. Councils have never proved capable directors of war. Their proper function is to obtain information and to forward it to the admiral, who must be, as Nelson claimed the right to be, free to act when the fitting opportunity arrived."

Now Secretary Long is a member of the war board; at least he is frequently with it during its sessions, and he says that the views of the Times as to the proper functions of a war council express exactly the functions conferred upon and exercised by the naval war board. It has worked ceaselessly and intelligently to learn the movements of the enemy and the enemy's plans, and to gather all kinds of information that could be of value to the United States naval commanders now at sea. It has not undertaken to hamper them with unnecessary instructions, but supplying them with all information obtainable that might assist has kept ever in mind the principle that the commander on the spot is the person best qualified to act. The board has not made a single mistake since the beginning of the war, was the tribute that Secretary Long paid to it. Just how little it interferes with our naval commanders is shown in the epigramatic message to Dewey at Hong Kong.

"Commence operations at once, particularly against the Spanish fleet. You must capture vessels or destroy.

There was no suggestion there of unnecessary instructions. And again at San Juan, according to Secretary Long, all that the board did was to authorize Adm. Sampson to proceed as he did and attack the place. He likewise had no vexatious limitations passed upon him."

Government Officials Have Information That He is at Santiago Hemmed In By Our Vessels.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—There seems to be no longer any doubt that the Spanish fleet, now in Santiago harbor, is hemmed in by Commodore Schley's squadron, and that their escape is almost, if not quite, impossible. Members of the cabinet are exultant over Sam Wednesday's news, and although they | Says: are not willing to make public the source of their information, they regard it as perfectly trustworthy. It is authoritatively stated that the situation of the Santiago harbor is such that our gunboats, which are available for the purpose, could successfully prevent the escape of the Spaniards, thus relieving a considerable part of both Sampson's and Schley's fleets for operations elsewhere. Members of the administration regard present situation as most favorable for our cause and do not doubt that in a very short space of time the Spanish fleet will be utterly destroyed, and active operations begun against Havana and Cuba by both our military and naval forces. The safe arrival of the Oregon at Jupiter inlet, Fla., is spoken of with great satisfaction by members of the cabinet. Capt. Clark, in his message to the secretary of the navy, reports his safe arrival there and says that he is in condition for immediate active operations at the The harbor of Santiago is probably

For nearly a from Morro castle to Fort Catalina, a distance of one-quarter of a mile, it is hardly more than 300 feet wide. At one point the incoming and outgoing steamers are compelled to hug a buoy very closely so that only one ship can pass at a time. It is in fact a water pass of Thermopylae and a few Spanish spartans on the inside could protect it against a large and formidable force endeavoring to gain entrance. The channel then swings for a mile to the northwest around Gorda point and after turning at a sharp angle vessels are compelled to travel through another long and narrow channel before reaching the large basin of water which forms the harbor proper, and at the end of which the city of Santiago is situated. It is nearly five miles from the ocean through these tortuous and narrow channels to the city. This is a very different condition of affairs from that which existed at Manila, where Adm. Dewey sailed into a bay that is practically a part of the ocean. Manila bay at some points is 25 miles wide, affording ample room for the maneuvers which Adm. Dewey executed with such success while pounding the Cavite arsenal into ruins, The basin of Santiago harbor is about two miles long and the distance from shore to shore is less than a mile at its widest point.

Big Movement Upon Porto Rico to Be Begun at Once-The Town Will Be Bombarded by Adm. Sampson.

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The more important movement now under way is the taking of san Juan, Porto Rico. Commodore Schley, with his flying quadron, will remain off the harbor of Santiago and may bombard the town. The fleet of Sampson will, however, renew the attack on San Juan, and it will be accompanied by an army of 15,000 or 20,000 men.

This army may be led by Gen. Miles himself. Already there is assembled at Tampa the best contingent of the regular army, and in the harbor is a fleet of 16 ocean transports carrying the town of San Juan occupied.

the window, with my crutches, as the daylight fades away, sit and watch the shadows 'neath the hoary maples play;

It is then I hear the music of a bugle loud and shrill. And the long roll in the twilight seems to come from yonder hill;

But awake or dreaming ever I can see the old blue lines, And again the army marches-marches underneath the pines.

With a tread that echoes ever in the veteran's heart to-day. Marches still that grand old army, 'mong the trees so far away;

And I see its banners floating proudly 'gainst the azure sky, Just as though beneath my window it t day were passing by; I can recognize the comrades touching el bows as of yore, With a beautiful devotion that will live forever more: And the sun in cloudless heavens upon blade and bay'net shines.

And the breezes stir the pennons of the army in the pines. Sitting here I count the marches one can never more forget, I can see the gleaming camp-fires when the stars their watch have set: Yonder rides the graybeard colonel, with a comrade's smile for all, That morning in the wilderness, he was the first to fall;

remember how we laid him 'neath the dark green branches low, And turned to meet the charges of the ever valiant foe; I seem to hear war's thunder as it rolled along our lines. Waking not the dear old colonel, sleeping sweetly 'neath the pines.

But my crutches oft remind me that our battle flags are furl'd, That where we fought the angel Peace proclaims to all the world That love cements the sections and that, brothers true to-day, Beneath the starry banner fair stand both the Blue and Gray; The roses bloom in beauty where we heard the mad shells scream And southern lilies grow beside the squadron guarded stream, And everywhere, this sacred day, love gratefully entwines A fragrant wreath in memory of the army

The sound of music thrills me; they are coming down the street, I plainly hear upon the wind the tramp of many feet: With nature's treasures beautiful they march again to keep Memorial day and crown the boys where side by side they sleep:

They see me at the window and salute me as they pass. I lift my hand and smile on them, but very soon they pass, old, old eyes grow misty and I cannot Though I seem to hear the army once again

There's another army marching 'neath the heavens soft and blue,

Its leaders are not many now, its privates, too, are few: One by one they cross the river to the camp where all is still,

Where drums to battle never beat and bugles never thrill; Memorial day grows sweeter as the long years glide away. And loving nature yields her gifts alike for Blue and Gray

And soon where the last veteran sleeps will creep the summer vines, And evermore will silent be the camps among the pines. -T. C. Harbaugh, in Ohio Farmer.

Strange and Interesting History o Count Libri's Acquired Library.

Probably the most audacious and successful book thief that ever lived was Count Libri of Florence, who, emigrating to France, became in 1842 secretary of a government commission to examine and catalogue the books and manuscripts in the many communal libraries of the country. FIFTY-FIFTH CONGRESS.

First Regular Session.

WASHINGTON. May 20. - SENATE-While several important paragraphs in the war revenve measure were passed over Thursday for future consideration, excellent progress was made by the senate in the consideration of the bill. Two-thirds of the measure has been read, the committee amendments generally having been agreed to. Mr. McLaurin (dem., S. C.) opened the discussion of the bill Thursday with a carefully prepared speech touching all of its features. He expressed the hope that the bill would pass as reported by the majority of the committee on finance, with the exception of the stamp tax, which he thought quite unnecessary. The proposition to place a stamp tax upon proprietary articles and perfumery articles now in stock aroused a lively discussion. It was regarded as retroactive legislation and, as such, was opposed by many senators. The paragraph has not been disposed of finally.

House-The adjournment of the house to Monday postponed until next week any possible consideration of the Hawaiian resolutions. On the opening of the day's session Chaplain Gouden referred feelingly to the late William E. Gladstone. "In the death of this grand old man," the chaplain said, "Our hearts go out in gratitude to Thee for his great character as a writer, statesman and Christian, which has been felt throughout the world." Mr. Gresvenor (rep., O.) called up the labor arbitration bill as amended and passed by the senate. He explained the the friends of the bill outside of congress. He moved to concur in the senate's amendments. After debate, confined to the proposimany members participated, a roll-call upon agreeing to the senate's amendments, thereby effecting the bill's passage, was ordered, resulting in yeas 219, nays 4.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—SENATE—At the conclusion of Friday's session of the senate the reading of the war revenue measure had been completed. About seven-eighths of the amendments proposed by the senate committee have been agreed to. Those remaining are, quite naturally, the most important in the bill and will provoke a deal of discussion. The principal amendments yet to be passed upon are those relating to the issuue of bonds and certificates of indebtedness, the tobacco tax, the tax on proprietary articles, the issue of greenbacks, the coinage of the silver seigniorage, the issue of silver certificates, the inheritance tax, and the tax on corporations. The action upon some of the amendments will be dependent upon that on others. Mr. Aldrich (rep., R. I.) Friday offered as a substitute for the paragraphs relating to the coinage of the seigniorage, the issue of silver certificates bond provision should be accepted by the senate, the amendments offered by the democrats in lieu of it will naturally be rejected. Mr. porting the substitute paragraphs proposed by the democratic majority of the finance com-

House-Not in session.

WASHINGTON, May 24.-SENATE-For five ours Monday the senate had the war revenue measure under discussion. The entire time was occupied by Mr. Chilton (dem., Tex.); Mr. While Mr. Lodge confined himself to a discussion of the posed tax on corporations and bank deposits, strongly urging that such taxes be not imposed; Mr. Chilton and Mr. Turley covered pretty fully the general features of the oill. Their speeches dealt comprehensively with the theories of taxation and were therefore, in the very nature of things legal and technical dissertations upon the subject. No action of any kind was taken upon the bill.

House-The day in the house was devoted chiefly to the consideration of District of Columbia legislation. Two bills of minor importance affecting the volunteer military were

WASHINGTON, May 25.-SENATE-That feature of the war revenue measure placing a tax of one quarter of one per centum upon the gross receipts of corporations was under discussion in the senate throughout Tuesday's session. Incidentally the proposed tax on bank deposits was adverted to. The principal speeches were delivered by Mr. Platt (rep., Ct.) and Mr. Lindsay (dem., Ky.) both of whom vigorously attacked the corporation tax. The weight of the former's argument was thrown against the tax on the ground that it was unconstitutional because the tax was not levied alike upon-all persons engaged in a particular lines of business. He maintained that an occupation tax could be levied. provided that the conditions were fair and equitable, but that the business of a corporation could not be taxed, simply because it was conducted by a corporation. say vigorously antagonized posed issue of legal tender notes. declaring that it accentuated the existing menace to the gold reserve of the treasury and was, besides, the dearest money ever devised. He held that such an issue would be a blow to the nation's financial credit. He also presented an argument against the proposed corporation tax, maintaining that if enacted into law it would breed a batch of lawsuits instead of providing what the government needed-ready money with which to conduct the war operations. House-The session of the house Tuesday was brief. Several bills were passed, notably those for the organization of the naval hospital corps: to facilitate military triais for small offenses; and to authorize the appointment of a commission to allot certain lands and to secure the cession of others from the Utah Indians, in their reservation in Utah.

WASHINGTON, May 26 .- SENATE-Late Wednesday afternoon Mr. Allison (Ia.). in charge of the war revenue bill in the senate, endeavored to secure unanimous consent that a final vote on the measure be taken on Saturday next before adjournment. Mr. Teller (Col.) objected. Mr. Daniel (Va.). in reiterating Mr. Teller's objection, sounded the first note of delay against that measure that has been heard since the debate began. He declared that there was no emergency which required the immediate passage of the bill and frankly announced that if certain provisions of the bill put into it by the democrat; on the finance committee were not agreed to by the senate he would offer some amendments to the measure that probably would precipitate debate. He strongly intimated too, that if the war sho ild not be prolonged. it might not be necessary to provide so such revenue as the pendbill would desire to await developments that in all likelihood were close at hand before passing upon a bill that meant so much to the people as this one. Speeches on the general features of the pending bill were delivered Wednesday by Mr. Stewart (pop., Nev.): Mr. Allen (pop., Neb.), and Mr. Caffery (dem., La.). Before the revenue bill was taken up Wednesday morning the pension deficiency appropriation bill was passed. It carried nearly $9,000,-

House-After the passage of a bill granting certain public lands to the territory of New Mexico, the house devoted Wednesday's session to eulogies upon the late Senator George, of Mississippi.

The program will end with an original one-act drama, "A Loyal Coquette," written by Walter Champ, of this city

The play will be produced under the direction of Mr. W. H. Davis, of "The Fast Vail" company who will assume the leading male role. The other parts will be in the hands of competent persons. There is considerable curiosity among local theater-goers to see the dramatic work of our fellow-townsmar produced, and the opera house should and no doubt will be filled on this oc casion. Parisians should take pride it complimenting the promoters and participants in this entertainment with handsome audience. The admission to the parquet and dress circle will be fifty cents. The sale of seats will begin at Brooks' drug store on Tuesday morning.

An Excellent Production.

THE Junior Sodality of the Catholic Church gave an excellent production of the play "The Little Mischief Makers," at the opera house Tuesday night, and the play was well received by a large audience. NEW DYNAMITE GUN.

The Latest Device for Throwing Shells Loaded with High Explosives and Its Operation.

The newest type of dynamite gun consists of two tubes placed directly one above the other, whereas in the old type there are three tubes placed side by side in the same horizontal plane. The elimination of the third tube means a great saving in the weight of the gun and at the same time it is claimed its effectiveness is increased. It is said that the gun can be fired at least five times in two minutes.

Of the two tubes the upper is several feet the longer and is smooth bore. It receives the projectile, and the material used in its construction is either brass or steel, the latter being preferable, Within the lower tube there is an inner tube in which the blank cartridge containing seven ounces of smokeless powder is placed. The inner tube opens into the lower tube, which in turn opens into the upper tube through a port immediately behind the projectile. When the projectile is placed in the upper tube and the blank cartridge in the lower, the breeches are closed and the gun is ready for firing. The pulling of the lanyard explodes the smokeless powder, which compresses the air in the tube, and this, passing into the upper tube through the port, exerts there a pressure of 3,000 pounds to the square inch. This pressure expels the projectile. The air forms a cushion and protects from shock the walls of the shell, and, it is claimed, obviates the danger which would follow from the concussion of the powder were it exploded directly behind the projectile.

The entire length of the projectile used is 34 inches. This includes a tail piece about ten inches in length and fitted with a vane set at an angle that insures slow rotation. The body of the shell is a brass cylinder having a conical head containing a fuse. The main body of the shell contains usually a charge of explosive gelatine, although guncotton or any other explosive may be used. The ignition is effected by means of a mechanical fuse, and it is so arranged that the explosion can follow immediately upon impact or may be delayed for as much as six seconds thereafter. When the shell strikes the water or any other object, a small steel ball, acting as a hammer, is driven forward by the sudden retardation of the flight of the shell and strikes one or more percussion caps causing a de tonation. This ignites a tube of powder communicating with the fulminate of mercury, and so explodes successively the guncotton and the main explosive. The fuse embodies a device which renders the shell inactive until it has traveled at least 300 feet from the gun. This device is very ingenious. There is attached to the head of the fuse a little vane or windmill, which is fastened to a threaded rod running back into the head of the fuse far enough to press on the small steel ball mentioned, and hold it in place. As the projectile passes through the air the blades revolve, and, in revolving, unscrew the threaded rod, and thus release the small steel ball, which is now ready to run forward and explode the primers.

gun there is neither smoke nor noise. It cannot be heard at the distance of one-half mile, nor can any smoke be seen. Thus it would be nearly impossible for sharpshooters or rapid-fire gunners to locate the gun.-N. Y. Sun.

A PROVIDENT BRIDE.

How a Wide-Awake Philadelphia Young Woman Saved Money for a Wedding Tour.

A promising young lawyer who has an office in the Girard building has just made the delightful discovery that his fiancee is also a financier. The young man's sweetheart resides in Germantown, and for several months past he has called upon her regularly thrice a week. When he first met the girl, two years ago, he was, of course, extremely anxious to make a good impression, and he lavished many presents upon her. The girl's parents are quite well to do, but she disapproves of any sort of display or prodigality, and when, in the natural course of events, the young man proposed and was accepted, she felt it to be her privilege and her duty to read him a little lecture on "Economy." She called his attention to the fact that every time he called he had been in the habit of bringing flowers and candy to the value of a dollar or two. She suggested that in the future he should discontinue the presents. handing over a silver dollar instead whenever he came to see her. He laughed, for he thought she was joking. but she speedily assured him that she was much in earnest. So he paid his dollar regularly, and finally came to the conclusion that the money was being devoted to charity. The wedding day was set for next month, and an extended tour was contemplated. Unfortunately, the young lawyer recently took a "flyer" in stocks, and dropped so much money that he had to notify his fiancee that their wedding trip must be dispensed with. The dear girl laughed at him, and, leaving the room for a mo- | along. ment, presently returned with a satchel containing 256 silver dollars. Their plans will not be changed .- Philadelphia Record.

"But in your sleep you say 'I'm in.' What does that mean?' "Why, you know, if they'd ask me if I'd go to war again of course I'd say that, wouldn't I, darling?"

Yes, dear, and then sometimes you say: "It's up to you." "That's when I'm going down the line asking questions of my company. But what do you mean when you say: 'It's open?'

"Do I say it loud?" "Yes, a little bit exclamatory." "Well, that's when the engagement opens

"And if you keep talking about the 'reds' and 'whites' what's that?' "Oh, bless you, that's the colors of the Bills of Fare in Fashionable Restaurants.

The question has been mooted over and over again whether the engrafting of French and German dishes upon the bill of fare of the better class of American restaurants is or is not an improvement. THIS IS A "HOT" ONE.

Lake Crystal, Minn., July 31st, 1897. April 5th, 1892, my little boy, just four years old, was terribly scalded by falling backward into a pail full of boiling water. He fell into it in such a manner that he remained doubled up until his mother, who was in the mext room, could come to his rescue. In tearing his clothing from him, the skin and flesh came off in strips, and the mother's hands were badly burned. The skin came off his body from above the middle of the back to below the calves of his legs. The burn was deep and the case desperate. For two months he was under the care of our family physician. We then took him to St. Paul and acting under his alvice called in one of the leading surgeons of the city, who took the case in charge. Other physicians were called in consultation; sixty pieces of skin were grafted at one time, yet notwithstand-ing all the skill of the doctors and the most unremitting care, two months afterwards all hope had been given up. For months he had lain on pillows with his face down and suffered terribly. He had no appetite and could retain nothing on his stomach

The sores were indolent and for two months had lain perfectly dormant. My attention was then called to Allen's Ulcerine Salve, and in desperation, ready to try anything that promised help, we commenced its use. Results were apparent at once. It at once aroused the sores to action and stimulated a healthy discharge. We kept the boy's strength up with a preparation of beef's blood and wine, and in about two months he was well on the road to recovery, and we were able to remove him back to our home. Thirteen months from the time he was injured he was perfectly restored. It has been over four years since the cure was effected and the boy is perfectly well and remarkably strong and active. I believe that Allen's Ulcerine Salve saved his life, as when we commenced its use all hopes had been given up, and blood poisoning was expected to set in any moment. It was four months after he was burned before we began to use the Salve. Signed, H. E. WOODS, Traveling Agent for C. Gotzian & Co., Wholesale Boots & Shoes, St. Paul, Minn. Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases of of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition

CAPACITY OF SILOS.

Table Giving the Average Weight Per Cubic Foot of Well-Matured and Settled Ensilage.

It would seem as though we might be excused from answering over and over again questions relating to the capacity of silos, but it is perhaps fair to assume that others are much like ourselves-not over careful to preserve the information not specially needed for Silage varies in weight per cubic foot principally for the amount of pressure to which it has been subjected. Hence the last foot, or five feet, in a silo, which has been filled up to 20 feet deep is much heavier (because more compact) than the first foot, or five feet.

The following table gives the average weight per cubic foot of well matured corn silage, at different depths, after settling two days, and the average for the entire depth:

Average for First 5 feet......22.0 Second 5 feet...........30.0 Third 5 feet......39.3 Fourth 5 feet......43.8

Find the number of square feet in the bottom of the silo, multiply this by depth of silage and the product will be the total cubic feet of silage. For instance, if a silo is 12x15 feet inside measurement, and 20 feet deep, it will the thing to use in the sugar bush and have 3,000 cubic feet, and when well around on the farm in the spring of the filled with mature corn, the average vear. weight, per cubic foot, will be 33.3 proportion for other depths .- Hoards'

Rye for Milk Cows.

Rye makes excellent feed for cows giving milk. It contains little fat and a comparatively large amount of milkmaking elements and can be recommended as a milk feed. Green rye is given the same analysis as pasture grass, but from experience I doubt if it is as valuable. For soiling, however it is of greater value than pasture grass tory. In many cases the feed is to by reason of the enormous quantities blame-there may have been only dry that may be secured from so small a piece of ground. PRUNING PEACH TREES.

duch of the Work of Thinning Fruit May Be Done by Judicious Shortening of Growth.

A good authority says that at planting time the top should be pruned to a straight whip not more than 24 or 30 inches high. With modern implements of cultivation there is no need of having the tops formed as our fathers used to, so as to allow a horse to walk under the branches. By forming the top low, there is less danger of injury from high winds, and because the fruit is near the ground the expense of harvesting is cutting cornfodder, for feeding. Where | much less. The pruning the first year should consist in shortening the leada cow or two, it is all that is needed. ing branches of the last year's growth, The space between the ends of the leaving them distributed along the stem left at planting time. Avoid having the branches radiate from a common center. If properly distributed along the trunk, a branch broken by wind or an overload of fruit works no permanent injury to the tree. Pruning after the first year should consist in shortening the main branches so as to form a short-joisted, compact head, Continue this shortening process each year, doing the work when the wood is dormant. In this way the trees will be kept low, and the fruit within easy reach. Low trees will support all the fruit a tree ought to carry; the expense of ladders will be saved, the fruit can be more rapidly harvested, and at least ten years will be added to the lifetime of the tree. If vigorous growth is allowed each year without shortening, in a few years the weight of the fruit is borne at the end of long branches. which are sure to break with the first load of fruit, destroying the tree just when it ought to be in its prime. Many make the mistake of thinning too much the small twigs from the inside branches. They will bear as good ally grew worse, her nerves were so tense moved. Much of the work of thinning muscles. The symptoms were much like the fruit may be doned by the symptoms were much like the fruit may be done by judicious shortening of the annual growth. CHEERING HIM.

His Hearers Were Duly Appreciative But Were Not Completely Carried Away.

He was unquestionably an orator. But he was not content with that gift. He desired to deliver speeches which would read well in print. As a result, his periods were polished till they lost force. They would have made more of an impression if he had left a few jagged edges on them. His speeches were as famed for their soporific qualities as they were for their immaculate syntax, but his wife was a confident admirer of his powers as a speaker. Without taking the trouble to inform herself very thoroughly on the topics he discussed, she accepted his observations with implicit faith and un-bounded applause. She had gone to hear him address the legislature. After it was over he remarked:

The Dealer in Corn Salve Spoils the Real Estate Man's Proud Boast.

Real estate dealers often console themselves during these dull days by reminiscences of the periods of inactivity which but soon was have gone before. A well-known Washingas bad as ton street dealer while in a reminiscent ever. One mood told the following:

"The period of inactivity through which we are now passing reminds me somewhat lar to hers of the days of 1873 when a dealer who made which was a sale was looked upon as a marvel. I had cured by Dr. | my office at that time on the second floor of this building. On the main floor were the offices of Reece, Pierce & Co. I was in the habit of stopping in each morning and greeting Col. Pierce, and usually the greeting became a morning visit. One day was about the first of April when she began I was complaining somewhat bitterly of the and by the middle of May, after taking dullness of the market, and the colonel remarked: 'I tell you that you miss it by not getting down on the ground floor. Now we get a great deal of drop-in trade, so to speak, that never gets to you because of the stairs.'
"Just as he was closing this remark the door opened and in stepped a man with a valise. 'There, what did I tell you,' said the co'onel. 'Here's a man who probably wants to buy a lot and who never would climb up to you.' I was duly impressed with the truth of the statement then, and we both became silent as the newcomer avanced. As he came up to us he bowed and smiled and then blandly inquired: 'Can't I sell either of you some corn salve to-day?' "The colonel was almost overcome, but he managed to express a decided negative and the visitor retreated. When he had closed the door behind him I burst out laughing and exclaimed: 'Colonel, if that's the kind of drop-in trade you get down here I want none of it. Now, that man would never trouble me because he could easily see that any man who could frequently climb the stairs of this building could not possibly have corns.' I went upstairs to my office, leaving the colonel speechless."-Chicago

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

Daughters Should be Carefully Guided in Early Womanhood.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

The following letter from Miss MARIE F. Johnson, Centralia, Pa., shows what neglect will do, and tells how Mrs.

Pinkham helped her: "My health became so poor that I had to leave school. I was tired all the time, and had dreadful pains in my side and back. I was also troubled with irregularity of menses. I was very weak, and lost so much flesh that my friends became alarmed. My mother, who is a firm believer in your remedies from experience, thought perhaps they might benefit me, and wrote you for advice. I followed the advice you gave, and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as you directed, and am now as well as I ever was. I have gained flesh and have a good color. I am completely cured of irregularity."

A perfect type of the highest order of excellence.

Takes His Jags In Transit.

"The other day I was coming east on Mr. H. T. Towns of New York. "In the parlor car in which I traveled were a couple of hilarious New Yorkers, who were spending their money for champagne, or at least one of them was, with a liberality that was nigh akin to recklessness. The number of quart bottles that they consumed was startling, and every time the colored attendant brought in a fresh bottle he was presented with a $1 note. Whenever the contents of one were pretty nearly gone the elder of the bacchanalians shouted out to the waiter, 'Who told you to stop bringing in wine?'

"But along toward evening the supply ran out, much to the disgust of the pair, and they had to be content with high balls, cocktails and other plebeian drinks. These were sufficient, however, | work for the new Bourbou Bank buildto keep up their spirits, and later in ing. the night I could hear them yelling for another round.

Artillery and a week and that they hadn't drawn a senior member to indulge in a spree. He took the younger man along merely for company and footed all the bills. About once a year the notion took him riding continuously on a trunk line, where there would be only strangers to wonder at his dissipated behavior. The idea of picking a Pullman as the theater of a pretracted jag struck me as decidedly original."- Washington Post.

Time Spent In Shaving.

Think of the time lost in shaving. Campbell, the poet, calculated that a man who shaves himself every day and lives to the age of 70 expends during his life as much time in the act of shaving as would have sufficed for learning seven languages. Southey, commenting on this, minuted himself, May 15, 1830, during the act of shaving, and he found the time employed nine minutes. He neither hurried the operation nor lingered about it. Listen now to William Corbett concerning shaving: "As it may cost only about five minutes of time and may be and frequently is made to cost 30 or even 50 minutes and as only 15 minutes make about a fifty-eighth part of the hours of our average daylight, this being the case, this is a matter of real importance. I once heard Sir John Sinclair ask Mr. Cochrane Johnstone whether he meant to have a son of his, Will be at the Windsor Hotel. Paris, then a little boy, taught Latin. 'No,' said Mr. Johnstone, 'but I mean to do something a great deal better for him.' TUESDAY, JUNE 14TH, 1898 'What is that?' said Sir John. 'Why,' said the other, 'teach him to shave with cold water and without a glass." "-Boston Journal.

Strained the Jar.

A little old woman with a sharp nose and sharper tongue was in the country grocery store buying supplies. Among other things she brought in from her cart was a battle scarred jug, which she ordered to be filled with treacle.

At last, when her purchases were guaranteed to turn all kinds of stock completed, she began looking over the account, item by item, before paying.

"What's this?" she exclaimed. "You farmers who have had the Page Fence have charged me for two gallons and a half of treacle." "Yes, ma'am."

the treacle carefully, and it took two gallons and a half to fill it."

"Well," said the old woman with a putting in half a gallon more than it will hold."-Strand Magazine.

A Bad Bargain.

The unprofitableness of some of the rush and worry of business life is neatly suggested in the following dialogue, found in one of the papers:

"Where is Jones?" "Gone to California."

"What for?" "To regain his health."

"How did he lose his health?" "Earning the money to go to California."-Youth's Companion.
